

At zeb we see ourselves as partners for change. Our philosophy and mission are to support clients who make decisions and foster value creation to shape the future. We develop visions and innovative strategies, make them actionable, and put them thoroughly into motion for our clients. We are not simply satisfied with crafting adequate answers but are driven by the urge to see effective results. Due to our creativity and independence in terms of ideas and actions, we are able to create new value-setting standards. We are a 360° management consultancy that revolves around one thing: the success of our clients.

We are looking for intellectually-curious, open-minded, innovative, analytical, and entrepreneurial people, who see the “big picture”. We are currently hiring for the following position:

Senior Consultant Financial Services - Finance & Risk

Office: London

YOUR PROFILE:

Just as every client project is different, we recognise and value the diversity of backgrounds and skill sets for our successful candidates.

We expect you to have:

- 2-4 years of relevant experience, ideally with a top-tier consulting firm or a leading bank based in the UK
- Strong background in problem solving with demonstrable analytical skills and a track record of working in teams
- A background in Finance and Risk-related matters
- Ability and willingness to travel both in the UK and continental Europe
- Minimum of 2:1 in undergraduate/graduate degree and an excellent academic track record
- Fluency in English and another foreign language (e. g. German)
- Legal right to work in the UK

YOUR TASKS:

- You will work with a selected number of clients in the financial services sector to deliver a unique collaborative advisory experience
 - Alongside the senior management, you will identify strategic opportunities, implement transformational change and solve complex issues
 - You will take responsibility for a range of non-project related activities in the UK office such as preparing innovative content for thought leadership, developing new propositions, and supporting business development
 - By taking on responsibility for own work packages at an early stage you contribute both to the projects and your own success
